

Professional Development

Child Care Algoma's degree of success depends on employing highly trained and qualified employees to nourish the healthy development of your child. We provide basic training for new hires in order for them to become productive as quickly as possible. Nevertheless, having a trained, effective workforce requires us to go far beyond this basic step.

Child Care Algoma (excluding Home Child Care) will be CLOSED for a Professional Development Day
On Monday April 30, 2012

We are proud to provide quality services to children and families through best practices and effective program system management. We are confident that our commitment to ongoing training will continue to optimize teaching performance for the care and education of your child as well as build on standards of practice which will ensure the highest level of service.
